UK move to Oz

LIVEWIRE property chief John Johnston is just back from a very chilly New Year in Britain — and it wasn't just the weather that was freezing.

John tells us that if property types here think the market is cooling, they should take a look at the Old Dart. He reckons Queensland will benefit from a big push of migration from business types who see a brighter future in Oz. He says UK real estate is in dire straits and the crisis has been the final straw for those wavering about a move Down Under, the low Aussie dollar also helping.
